Diploma in Social and Human Services

Want to make a difference in people's lives? Begin your career with the foundational knowledge you'll need for future studies in counselling, psychology, social work, human services or community health.

Learn how people think and behave and how to relate to different communities, including children, families, Indigenous Australians and older people. You'll also learn about the importance of ethics and social justice, and start to build the practical skills you'll need to interact with clients in the workplace.

On successful completion of the Diploma in Social and Human Services, you will receive direct entry and 96 units of credit towards your choice of the following degrees:

- Bachelor of Counselling
- Bachelor of Human Services
- Bachelor of Social Science (Psychology)
- Bachelor of Social Work
